ROBERT McALLISTER

OUR EXPERIENCE AT CONARD HAS IMPROVED OUR ABILITY TO PERCEIVE THE IMAGINATIVE ASPECTS, THE CREATIVE POSSIBILITIES OF OUR WORLD. IN THE CLASSROOM, ON THE SPORTS FIELD, AND IN CLUB ACTIVITIES, WE HAVE BEEN ENCOURAGED TO AUGMENT OUR KNOWLEDGE WITH IMAGINATION. WE HAVE TRIED TO DEVELOP A SENSE OF PROPORTION AT CONARD: THAT IS, A SENSITIVITY THAT SEES AND PROBES DEEPER THAN SURFACE FACTS AND THUS GIVES THEM A PROPER SIGNIFICANCE. DR. SEUSS IS OUR SPOKESMAN FOR THIS AWARENESS, FOR IMAGINATION. IN ALL OF HIS FANCIFUL STORIES, HE SHOWS THAT ENJOYMENT OF LIFE DEPENDS ON THE ABILITY TO VIEW REALITY IN PROPER PERSPECTIVE AND TO SEE HUMOR IN EVERYDAY CIRCUMSTANCES.

THE SECONIAN, WITH THE AID OF DR. SEUSS, HAS TRIED TO VIEW OUR THREE YEARS AT CONARD WITH A SENSE OF PROPORTION BY SHOWING THAT
"FROM THERE TO HERE, FROM HERE TO THERE FUNNY THINGS ARE EVERYWHERE."

"Yes . . .
That's what I'd do,
Said Young Gerald McGrew.
I'd make a few changes
If I ran the zoo."

If I Ran The Zoo.

To the Class of '65:

All of us join in congratulating you on your success at Conard. You have participated in every phase of school life with vigor and understanding. Your spirit, vitality, and ability have moved our school forward. Your enthusiasm and achievement will long be remembered. Where in the state but at Conard have there been so many National Merit Finalists, such excellent dramatic and musical productions as Time Limit and The King and I, so many independent study programs in all academic areas, such advanced student council government, so many athletic championships in almost all sports, and a tradition of such high standards? We will miss you, but you are leaving behind a record that should help make the years ahead better for all of us.

Our best wishes, hopes, and prayers go with you as you leave Conard.

A black and white portrait of a young man with dark, wavy hair, smiling at the camera. He is wearing a dark suit jacket over a white shirt and a dark tie. The photo is mounted on a page with handwritten text in blue ink. To the left of the photo, the word "Senior" is written vertically. To the right of the photo, the name "John" is written. Below the name, there is a line of text that appears to be "John [illegible]". At the bottom of the page, there is a line of text that appears to be "John [illegible]".

In the spring of their Junior year outstanding members of the Class of 1965 were elected to the National Honor Society on the basis of their citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and service. Additional seniors became members in the winter. Besides earning the right to wear the small gold torch, the Society emblem, members tutored fellow students during study halls and after school.

Senior Advisory Board members were elected by senior homerooms during the first weeks of school. This group supervised election of class officers and all class activities except "decorating" the Senior Court. Members choose committees to plan the Autumn Leaves Dance, the Senior Reception, Class Night, and the Class Gift.

The Student Council and Cabinet, working with the administration, provided evening activities and monitors, sponsored our AFS program, subsidized money for clubs, and debated various matters of student concern.

Mr. Blaisdell, Advisor; Anne Swanson, Glen Rapoport, Chairman; Paul Brown, John Haymond, Nancy Hjerpe, Mike Kaufman. Missing—Edith Daley, Secretary.

Every spring the Junior Class has the opportunity to show its intelligence. This is done with the aid of the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Becoming a semi-finalist in this competition is one of the greatest academic honors available. This year, although the requirements were unusually high, eight Conard students were semi-finalists and forty-seven received letters of commendation, a record to be envied.

One job that takes a lot of time is done by the Seconian Staff. Room 202 serves as an Inferno to the members from September to April, and the excitement increases as those days which are ordained as "deadlines" approach. In the end, however, all usually goes well.

Another honor which students compete for are the book prizes that are awarded every spring. These include the Yale, Harvard, and Trinity book prizes which go to boys. They are awarded on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and citizenship. Also included is the Franklin & Marshall prize, which is awarded to a Junior for outstanding achievement in English and the natural sciences.

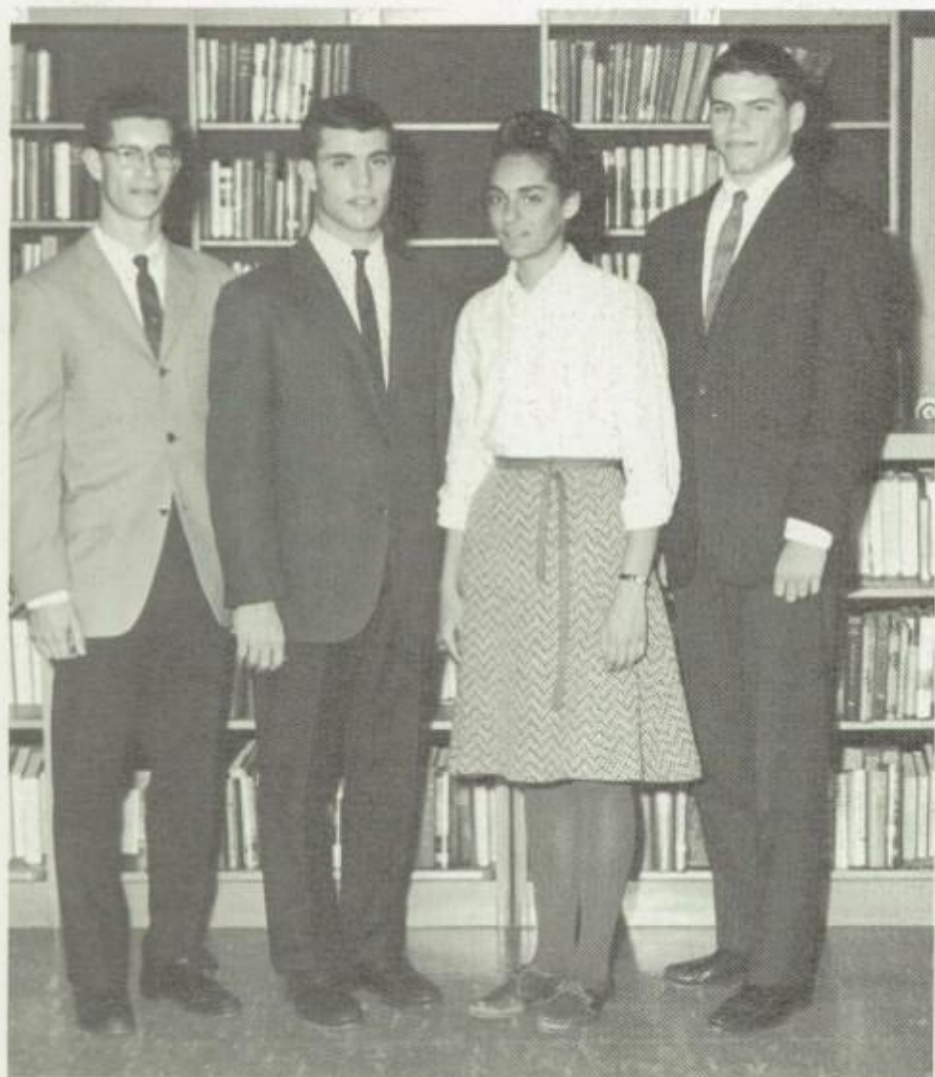

Homeroom Chairmen—FIRST ROW: Diane Fuller, Frank Resnick, Rhoda Sachs, Sam Bruskin, Gail Anderson, Debbie Weil, Andrea Ciganik. SECOND ROW: Marshall Jainchill, Dane Kostin, Glen

Book Prizes—Richard Breitman, Trinity Book Prize; Edward Glasband, Harvard Book Prize; Carla Shatz, Franklin and Marshall Book Prize; Jack Foley, Yale Book Prize.

A.F.S.—Marjorie Mezritz, Summer Exchange Student to Italy; Lis Nielsen, Exchange Student from Denmark.

Quill and Scroll—FIRST ROW: Linda Gordon, Susan Schaffman, Bob Goldstein, President; Sharon Goldberg, Secretary; Mike Kaufman, Vice-President; Margie Mezritz, Ruth Kunstadt. SECOND ROW: Margie Sack, Rhoda Sachs, Caron Dunn, Trudy Kaufman, Carol Bower, Debbie Kaplan, Nicki Berman, Sue Pearson. THIRD

Martha Berger, D.A.R. Good Citizen Award; Margie Mezritz, Conn. Women Deans and Counselors Award; Carla Shatz, NCTEA Runner-up; Alan Hartstein, Bausch and Lomb Award.

Scholastic Writing Contest Gold Key Winners—John Haymond, Rhoda Sachs, Sue Pearson, Carla Shatz.

Laurel Girls' State and Nutmeg Boys' State—Kelley Matzen, Jeff Sheldon, Tim Leach, Alternate; Martha Berger, Jack Foley.

Quill and Scroll is the national honorary society for high school journalists. Juniors and seniors whose work on the Pow Wow or Seconian is of a high caliber may become members. This group contributed to the school by publishing an issue of Pow Wow for the first day of school and editing Trends, our annual literary magazine.

Several students received awards in their senior year. The DAR Good Citizen Award is presented to a senior girl whose outstanding scholarship, extra-curricular activities, and personal characteristics are recognized by both faculty and fellow students. The Bausch and Lomb medal is awarded for excellence in science, and the NCTEA Achievement Award for excellence in English.

KILLING THE KING'S ENGLISH

The "granite outcroppings" of Ethan Frome still shine at us from Sophomore English: American Literature. Gatsby might have Red the Badge of Courage but only we and Ahab know the joke about Moby Pickle. Our teachers despaired at our obscure, tortured English prose and still hoped that they could improve our vocabulary. Not until our first NOMA did we realize that grammar was spelled "grammar." Hyperbole was just another geometric figure. Naturally, man's best friend, Shakespeare, was studied on the Twelfth Night of Julius Caesar's death.

As Juniors, in English Literature, we employed our infinite skills in writing epic ballads and timeless sonnets. We lost ourselves in the Hardy English Heath of The Return of the Native, and Macbeth's Dunsinane Woods. We had almost convinced ourselves of literary genius when Junior Essays shocked us into the reality of having to find a "thesis."

In our Senior year, we searched for a Hamlet in which to hide from the threat of our masterpiece: The Senior Essay. Just to keep our writing blisters, Oedipus Rex came to tell us his story—but we had to take notes. The discussion of World Literature led to Japanese Tea Ceremonies, Zen, and Shakuntala. Dante's Circles, World Literature Books, more unsuccessful NOMA tests, Humanities Lectures, and Shakespeare's 400th Anniversary were all part of our Seniority.

At left, Bill Mann plans a biting criticism for a fellow student's paper in Mr. Perry's class.

Mr. Glendening's class sees a sneak preview of Oedipus Rex starring Liz Taylor as Hamlet.

Jody Lasso works her way through Conard as a newspaper boy.

This year three classes totaling twenty-five students and Mr. Darcey marked the third year of Russian at Conard. After mastering the Russian alphabet, we began our study of the spoken language, apples, ladderlesses, Russian Literature, and reading Taman. Mr. Darcey's special teaching instrument, a Roman spear, was always a great help. A trip to New York to see the Moscow Art Theater Troupe and a long-awaited РУССКИЙ ОБЕД climaxed the year.

It's about time he got the joke.

Mr. Darcey reads the classic Dr. Seuss in Russian.

"This course is divided into four sections—reading, writing, listening, and speaking", says Mr. Hanrahan as he passed out our Audio-Lingual Materials. These consisted of a box of records impossible to carry because of the shape and breakable contents. We read, listened, spoke, and wrote our way through to third year German. We finally learned to pronounce Goethe without making him sound like part of a suspension bridge; we can sing Deutsche Volkslieder in tune, and we even know that girls are considered neuter in Germany.

In our first year of French, we accustomed our ears to the sound of the language. During Second Year, we met that lovely creature, the subjunctive, and found ourselves memorizing "The Adventures of Maître Corbeau." Third Year French was spent scribbling on the blackboard, learning the route of Fogg in Le Tour du Monde, reading Le Petit Prince and Colomba, and taking those infamous dictées. In Fourth Year we were still flunking dictées, but we encountered the added treacheries of "Le Banc" and French term papers—oral and written!

At left, Mr. Poirier's fourth year French class listens to an inspiring report on French Romanticism.

Spanish has an endless array of surprises. First Year students receive the distressing news that there are two verbs meaning "to be" which are not interchangeable. Students are always pleasantly surprised to find that the work of the first few weeks consists solely of oral Spanish, but the greater surprise comes when the books are finally distributed and the real work begins! Some Second Year students are shocked to learn that their class is almost completely conducted in Spanish. The sentence, "Me permite hablar en ingles?" (May I speak in English?) is his only salvation. After learning more grammar, the students finally begin reading. In Third Year, reading continues with greater emphasis, but our good friend, the subjunctive, is not forgotten.

At left Mr. Darcey's Third Year Spanish class listens to him babble.

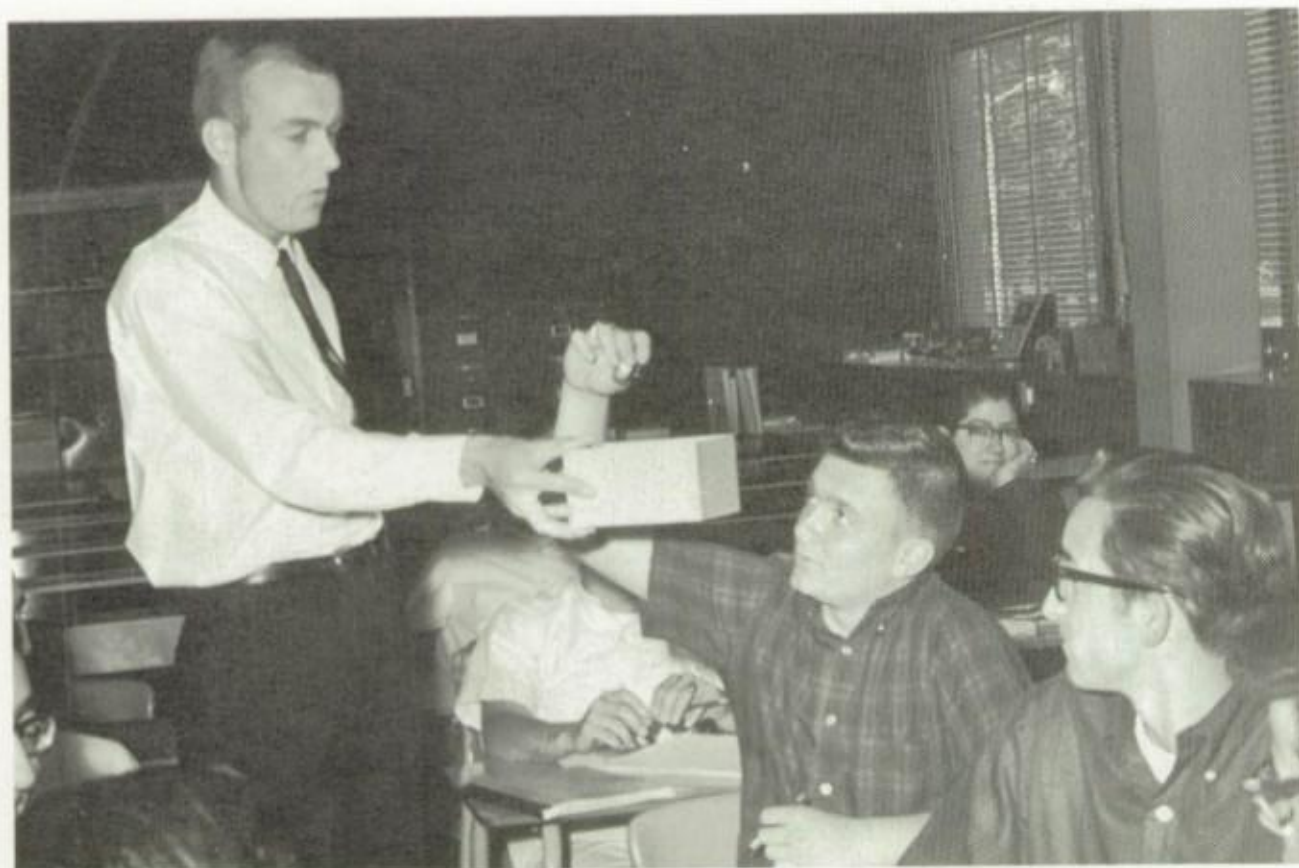

Now class, take

Primmers.

The intelligentsia (pronounced with a soft "g") of Conard are identified by the yellow and salmon colored bookmarks they possess. In addition to decorating all Latin books, these strips of cardboard contain lists of $64,000.00 English words which have been derived from Latin and which are discussed during the course of one year. In the first year the basic principles of Latin grammar are studied and technical phrases such as, "smash, bang, crash, glass all over the floor", are introduced. In second year Latin the constructions known as the "passive periphrastic conjugation" and "I have a pencil, the pencil is to me" are encountered. Second year students also labor through "Hercules", but sail through "Jason." The orations and very personal letters of Cicero are studied in the third year, and Miss Flannigan's Fidi Achates' scan the wanderings of Aeneas in fourth year Latin. (In other words they wander through the scansions of Vergil.)

Miss Flannigan reprimands an "improbissimus puer" who forgot to turn the door knob before opening the door.

Observations: "Then the little old worm gave his head a small jerk and he dived in his hole and went back to work."

The Big Brag

As sophomores, we took Biology. With its fundamentals, we learned to recognize the symptoms of rigor mortis and heartburn. With the prick of a pin, we discovered our blood type. The extraordinary measurements of the intestine of a grasshopper amazed us until someone wanted to take it home. Juniors took Physics to see those comical PSSC films, dabble in ripple tanks, and talk Einsteinian. ($E=mc^2$) When Seniors, most of us took Chemistry (No Zinc in the Sink!). We all had weight problems in Stoichiometry. Sometimes the labs had spectacular results because someone wondered "what would happen if" Applied Science was offered to those who wanted immediate applications rather than theory. Our newly learned scientific terms gave us a secret language spoken by all who took from one to three years of science.

Miss Gleason explains to the class that her marking system is based on the difference in solubility between Cesium and Yttrium.

Carolyn Tuttle looks on as Jerry Renert records Mark Siegal's reactions to removing his finger from Mr. Gifford's stroboscope.

Hmm, I've never seen a project quite like this one.

Whether you've struggled through Geometry, Algebra, Math XII, Applied Math, Senior Math, or any permutation thereof, you're likely never to forget the early morning ecstasy of calculating $\pi^{2/3}$ correct to nine decimal places. Under the inspirational guidance of Mr. Mills, Mr. D'Elia, Miss Greco, Mr. Lachat, Mr. Blaisdell, and a universal set of others, the Class of '65 learned to apply the abstract theories of Math to the everyday experiences of life. (Such as determining the length of time required to fill a bathtub of volume $V = \frac{1}{3}\pi r^2 h^3 m$ that leaks at different rates from four different places of unequal area.) The female Math students developed an entirely new appreciation of the field when Miss Gillchrest became Mrs. Brooks. At left Mr. Blaisdell helps his Starr pupil.

No matter how I do it, it keeps coming out zero.

"I never," he said, "take a step to one side. And I'll prove to you that I won't change my ways if I have to keep standing here fifty-nine days."

The Zax

Our hands are still yellow from "non-staining" yellow water colors. The plaster has hardened under fingernails. Indelible India ink has left its mark on shirts and art work. Mobiles, oil, pastel, and water color paintings hang in the room—the result of all four years of Art Classes. Basic perspective drawings and projects in sculpture are some of the exercises in Art.

Lathe, T-Square, 45° Right Triangle, oxyacetylene welding torch . . . all are materials used by students taking Industrial Arts. Skills useful every day—such as repairing TV sets—are developed.

In Home Economics, our nimble thimbles are pricked by the needle of a new monster: the sewing machine. Threads cling to woolen clothing, egg drips from counters. Courses in Foods, Clothing, and Home Management try to make us more at "home" in the role of Housewife.

EXPLORING LIKE COLUMBUS

In our American History studies, our minds are filled with rocks (Plymouth) and Pilgrims, Boston Tea and that party to which "anyone who was anybody" went.

In addition to the mandatory American History, devotees could choose from a wide range of subjects. In Sociology, students studied cultural relativism, ethnocentrism, and cultural lags. Scholars in Government pondered values and the interdisciplinary approach. World History classes took a backward glance at Neanderthal and Cromagnon man.

All the details of revolutions, especially English and French, were discussed in Mr. Derosier's Modern History classes. Some students were eager to apply their new knowledge to everyday problems. Geography students scanned the globe while Economics classes scrutinized the national debt.

To the left, a heated debate among Jay Starr, Stephen Goldberg, and Bill Glahn arouses Martha Berger.

Mr. Kramer's history class listens to a witty recording by Samuel Eliot Morrison.

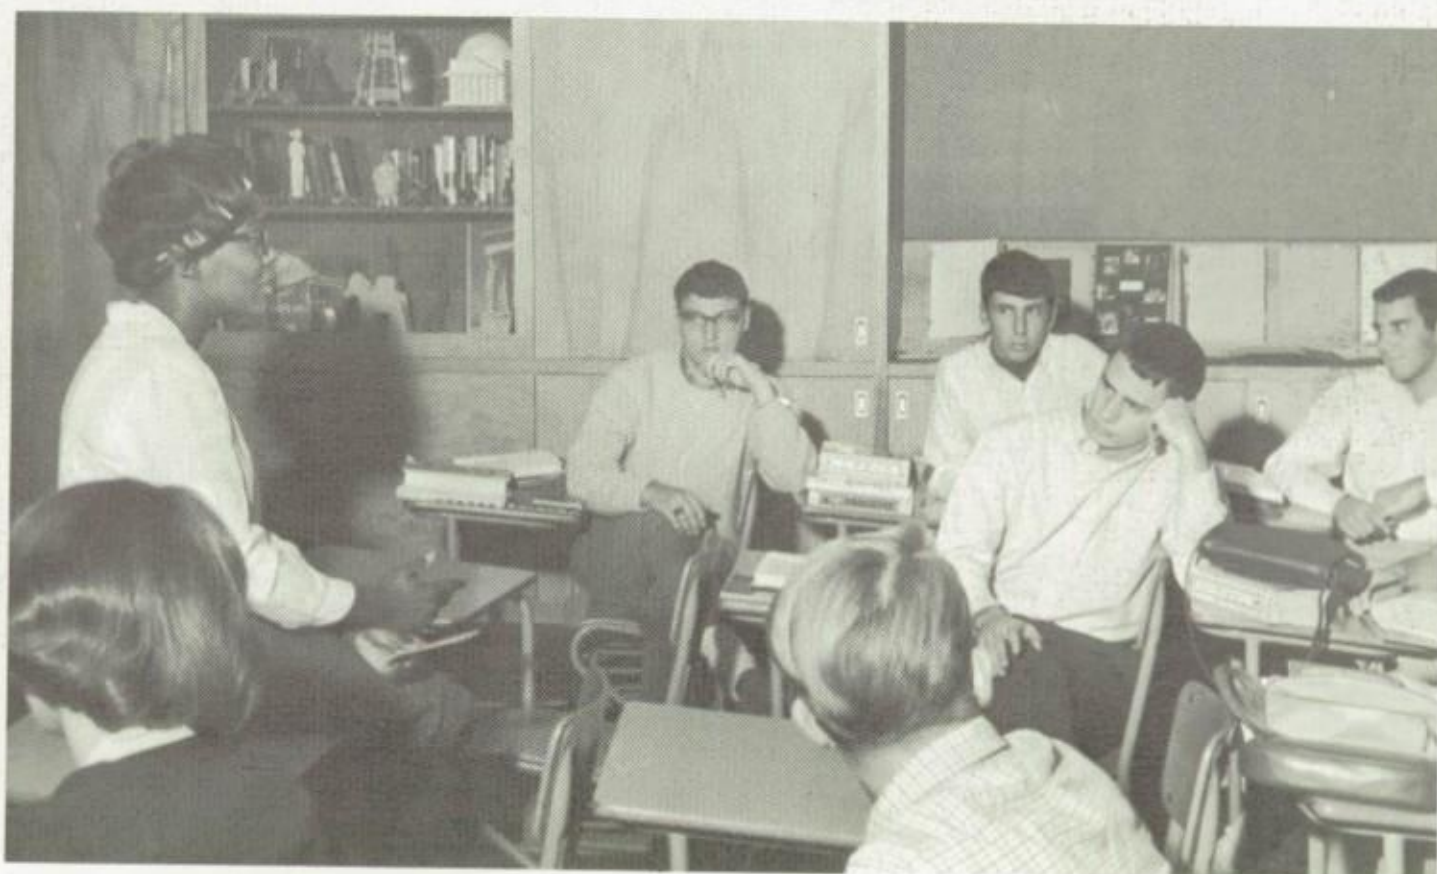

Mr. Derosier despairs as a student neglects to consider the economic, social, and religious aspects.

FROLICKED THROUGH CAPERS

Merrily, Conardites capered along with a magician, an impersonator, dancers, and musicians in the 1964 version of Conard Capers. Although there were many types of acts, most of the performers were folk-singers who strummed guitars.

Tryouts for Capers began in late September and practice continued until the performance a month later. In spite of reports of absent cast members and stagehands with calloused hands from pulling the curtain so much, the capering cast, under Mr. Hendrickson's direction, turned out a wonderful show and had a very good time.

FOLLOWED ROBERT'S RULES OF DISORDER

Little did the candidates for Student Council office realize what kind of year was ahead when they pledged their loyalty last spring during elections. The first crucial moment came with the September Fund Raising Drive. All government finances depended on the number of bonus magazines sold. The efforts of the Fund Raising Committee were rewarded by the most successful magazine drive in Conard's history. With this enthusiastic support, the Council began its long program of activities. A very successful Welcome Dance opened the year for Evening Activities, which then moved ahead to a College Sing, Consolation Dance, and Duke Ellington Concert. American Field Service sent two students to study abroad for a year and entertained at two successful receptions. The Membership Supervisory Committee asserted itself in regard to report cards, and Student Organizations sponsored several new club. As for Monitor Supervisory, they kept the traffic problem well in hand.

All this increased activity proved the need for a separate Student Government Office. A window was cut in the door of storage room 110, and the Council purchased all the equipment appropriate for the business of government.

There were some tense political moments, too. Referendum caused quite a stir; both sides of the question were presented in an assembly, while the Student Council debated for four months. Meanwhile, the Dress Code and the merits of closed circuit television were reviewed. It was a busy year for those involved in Student Council.

Jeff Sheldon pleads with Mr. Terek to stop hounding him about parliamentary procedure.

CHECKED AND MADE PASSES

Stephen Goldberg receives party orders from Moscow's top courier, David Quattropani.

There were two important developments in the Monitor system this year. While seven period monitors gained hiking practice by traveling to the new monitor post at the end of the corridor near the music rooms, other monitors learned how to operate the elevator.

Between — period monitors continued to leave classes early so that they could direct traffic and hold doors open, and period monitors, assigned to strategic points by their monitor captains, vigilantly checked passes and directed appropriate persons to the office.

ENJOYED SEUSS AND CREATIVE STUDENT WRITING

The headquarters for the SECONIAN staff was a cluttered table in Room 202 piled high with Dr. Seuss books, cropping pencils, homeroom lists, dummy sheets, rough drafts of copy, and stray captions written on scraps of paper. This year's staff had the distinction of being the first group to cool Cokes by suspending them from the window of Room 202. This was done to sustain those who skipped lunch to meet deadlines.

Though they worked under the tragic handicap of having only one editor who scored 100 on the NOMA test, the members were able to complete their work with the aid of a dictionary. A picture of Frankenstein on the green-board boosted the morale of the workers, but occasionally the editors did get in each other's hair (literally). Several problems that arose concerned censorship. They were resolved by repeating the staff motto, "Be Daring".

Conard's Peter Zenger Chapter of Quill and Scroll devoted much time to literary activities. In addition to holding an induction for new members, the chapter wrote school news releases for local newspapers. The main project of the year was the publication of Trends. A booklet of student writing, Trends contained selected examples of stories, essays, poetry, and artwork.

Conardites who belonged to Oh! Twenties, the Library Club, gave up study periods to help in the library. Club members efficiently stamped and mended books, filled out fine slips, and put books and magazines in their proper places. When the girls held an after-school meeting, they artfully decorated the bulletin boards, listened to a guest speaker, or held a party.

Selected by spirited competition within the Chess Club, the top five players became the members of Conard's Chess Team. Under the fine coaching of Mr. Lachat, the team has gone forth to win victories against teams from Manchester, East Hartford, Weaver, and Hall.

AIDED SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY

This year the Service Club organized the Bundle drive and succeeded in gathering clothing for needy children. Club members acted as scorers at track and cross-country meets. They also sold tickets for all kinds of evening activities. Whenever there was a performance in the auditorium, the girls from the Service Club served as ushers.

PRACTICED TEACHING

The youngest student teachers in the West Hartford elementary schools were members of the William Lyon Phelps Club, the Conard chapter of the Future Teachers of America. These teachers were well prepared for their morning of teaching at an elementary school, because they had listened to Conard's student teachers and other members of the profession discuss facets of the career. After conferring with the regular teacher of the class which she would take over, each girl carefully planned her morning and became a teacher.

Members of the National Honor Society practiced a more personal type of teaching. After they had indicated which subjects they felt that they were qualified to tutor, they were assigned to students who desired help. Each tutor felt a great sense of satisfaction as his pupil improved in the understanding of the subject matter.

"Still, of course, It might be . . . that there IS something bigger!

Members of the Debate Club argued the question, "Should an international organization control nuclear weapons?" Debates were held within the club and against teams from other schools. A Conard team was sent to the tournament at Stamford.

Students who belonged to the Foreign Policy Association gained valuable insight into the politics of the world when they heard speakers from several countries. The candor and humor with which Mr. Yosef Yaakov of the Israeli Consulate-General interpreted the world situation made him unforgettable. Mr. O. S. Coker of Nigeria appeared in his native dress. Diplomats from India, Ghana, and South Africa also came to Conard to speak to the club.

In February, the FPA traveled to New York to visit the UN delegations of the United Kingdom and the Congo and later represented these nations in a Model UN Assembly.

STUDIED PROBLEMS IN SOCIETY

Sociology students who belonged to the Sociology Club listened to Captain McGinnis of the West Hartford Police Department and Anna Bing, a Negro student from the south who is spending her junior and senior years at Conard on an experimental program. Don Wheeler, a minister, told the club about the church group tour which he led through various United States cities.

The members of Ex Libris met every other Friday to talk about readings from the Great Books. Members took turns acting as discussion leaders, asking probing questions about Plato's Apology and Crito, Sophocles' Antigone, Shaw's Man and Superman, and Ecclesiastes.

Ex Libris members Jane Rafal, Mark Steier, Carla Shatz, Steve Scott, Sue Schaffman, Scribe; Rhoda Sachs, President; Mr. Stuart, advisor; Nancie Gerson, Carolyn Tuttle, Peter Lebetkin, Roz Sussman, Sue Pearson, and Chris Barker discuss Man and Superman.

The members of the Boys' Leaders Club, distinguished by their bright red uniforms, helped the gym teachers by demonstrating skills and leading the classes in calisthenics. The leaders acquired valuable experience as they gained the respect and cooperation of their classmates.

In the spring of their sophomore year, many girls tried out for the Girls' Leaders Club. To become members, the girls needed good grades and they had to show their ability as gym leaders by teaching a game to the other girls. Active members spent several study halls a week leading the gym classes and setting up equipment. They also refereed at after-school gym and organized competition with teams from other schools. This year the girls spent a three-day weekend skiing at Boston University's Camp Sargent.

The same old routines just weren't the same this year because the Cheerleaders, led by Captain Jill LaPointe, introduced bright new cheers and livened up their routines with jumps and splits. The ten girls were picked from a group of one hundred eager competitors in their sophomore year.

The Cheerleaders wore red and gray on game days and kept their sneakers clean for the games. Not only did the girls cheer at the football and basketball games, but they also aroused great enthusiasm at the soccer games, wrestling matches and swim meets.

Horton Hears a Who

All boys who earned a Varsity letter at Conard became members of the Varsity Club. The purpose of the club was to foster greater enthusiasm toward the athletic teams. The boys set up equipment at athletic events and ushered at basketball games.

The sports calendars and "MAUL HALL" posters which were placed on all of the available wall space and the three filled buses traveling to an away football game were evidence of the pep in this year's Pep Club. The girls predicted Conard victories when they portrayed the Chieftains in skits at Pep Rallies. During the basketball season, the Pep Club five took on a group of boys, and, following tradition, they emerged winners. Jim Hackett and Terri Levine, our lively Chieftain and Chieftainess, helped to promote spirit at the football and basketball games.

The Senior Girls' League helped to promote a gracious feeling of friendship within the school. Members welcomed sophomore girls at a special tea at which each senior girl adopted a "little sister." A skit was presented which showed the tenth graders "proper" dress for school functions. When the Girls' League held a fashion show before Christmas, the members modeled all types of costumes ranging from lounging outfits to evening gowns. The girls wrote letters to Nguyen The Tinh, their foster child in Vietnam, and they sent him a Christmas present. They also held a Mother-Daughter-banquet in the spring.

The King's Stilts

In the fall, there were always two nights of live theater at Conard. Mr. Keogh directed the plays, and the five boys pictured above, Rick Carlson, John Freeston, Breck Fleeson, Andy Finkel, and Roger Gravlin, were the senior cast members of Time Limit, this year's presentation. The play takes place at a United States Army Post, but it shows the consequences of events in a Korean Prisoner of War Camp four years earlier.

Last year three members of our class, Terri Levine, Carol Gale, and Roz Sussman, played in My Three Angels, and we all remember seeing The Hasty Heart as sophomores.

The Choir spent a busy year giving concerts. At the Christmas Concert the group presented a series of songs pertaining to bells. Following the concert, the Choir began learning the Schubert Mass in G and the Hovhaness Thirtieth Ode of Solomon in preparation for the March concert. After weeks of learning parts, pronouncing strange Greek and Latin words, and keeping good tone quality, the concert began to take shape. Then the Choir began to learn the more light-hearted songs of the last musical event of the year, the Spring Concert.

THE HALLS WERE ALIVE

THIRD ROW—Kelly Matzen, Timothy Green, Lang Tyler, John Goldkamp, Treas.; Peter Jones, Leo Mallek, James Hackett, Pres.; Rex Beckwith, John Haines, Warren Hunt, Bill Glahn, Steven Lance, Carol Flasch.

From the first "me-e-may-maw's" of warm-up exercises to the final triumph of the musical, the Honors Choir performed beautifully. After displaying their talents for the junior high students, Choir members began work on their presentation of The First Nowell, a miracle play by Vaughn Williams which highlighted the Christmas Concert. After almost no rest, they began to learn Bach's Mass In G for the March concert. Their diligent efforts were well rewarded when Mr. Lauer announced that they had been asked to sing for the Council of Connecticut Music Teachers.

The Band began its season cheering Conard's teams on to victory at pep rallies and football games. Coming indoors, it joined forces with the other musical groups to perform in the Christmas and Spring Concerts. The big event of the year was the annual Band Concert which presented the musicians as a Symphonic Band rather than as a Marching Band or rhythm section.

The Orchestra performed an entire program alone for the first time when it combined with the Hall Orchestra for an Inter-High Concert. It also toured three junior high schools and participated in the annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. In March, together with the combined Choirs, the musicians undertook two major works—the Schubert Mass in G and Hovhaness' 30th Ode of Solomon. As always, the musical provided a most rewarding challenge.

Come on! Open your mouth and sound off at the sky!

FOLLOWED THE "THINK" SYSTEM

"Oh, we got trouble!" cried the members of the Honors Choir to Mr. Lauer when they saw the work to be done on their 1964 presentation of The Music Man. "This is no ride on a Carousel!" When the work was completed, however, everyone felt more like singing the rousing, "Seventy-six Trombons." After spending hours painting sets, locating props, and practicing lines, the show was finally ready.

As the play begins, Harold Hill, the supposedly competent band conductor, arrives in River City and warns the people about the terrible trouble to be caused by the new pool table. He recommends that the boys buy instruments and form a band. Harold proceeds to collect money from the people to buy the instruments but pockets most of the money himself. In the meantime he falls in love with Marian the librarian and makes friends with her lisping brother Winthrop. Harold's guilt is discovered, but he has already won the love and trust of the people, especially of Marian and Winthrop. Thus, the boys manage to eke out some music from their instruments by following the "think" system, Winthrop loses his lisp, and Harold Hill is saved.

APPRECIATED CULTURE

Each Monday afternoon, fifteen girls, arrayed in a mad assortment of leotards and red gym suits, assembled in Gym C. Battling against the yells of the boys in the adjoining gym, these Dance Club members persisted in attempting to become graceful young ladies, even able to present an advanced form of the Frug with charming ease. Leaping gazelle-like across the gym, bending and twisting like willows in the wind, crackling like wood on a fire, the group groped its sylph-like way toward the aches and pains of Tuesday morning.

Brahms-Schoenberg Club—Maggie Silberstein, Jane Rafal, John Nishan, Elliot Yush, Pres.; Art Burnap.

The main objective of the Brahms-Schoenberg Club was to foster an appreciation of contemporary classical music. Every Friday the members met to listen to the music of such composers as Brahms, Mahler, Bartok, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Berg, and Webern. The club was very informal, weekly attendance not being compulsory, and sometimes people who missed their buses came to enjoy the music. Anyone passing the band room on these afternoons could have seen members sitting on the floor or on chairs, eyes closed, listening.

Art Burnap listens carefully at a Brahms-Schoenberg meeting.

Charcoal, paint, India ink, and metal were all materials used by the members of the Art Club for their projects. The meetings officially began with "Gills, slam the door" but with that group action, members usually worked individually. Occasionally there was a demonstration sketch by Mr. Fox, and still lifes and portraits were drawn. Fulfilling their social obligations, the Art Club members made posters for Autumn Leaves and Time Limit. A mural for Conard, worthy of the Sistine Chapel, was designed by the members, and an April Art Show in the library displayed their individual creations.

STRUCK PUCKS, PINS, AND PINTOS

Members of the Duck Pin Bowling Club bowled in a six-team league. Highlighting the twenty nights of bowling were the Championship Round and the two Annual Tournaments. At a recent tournament, Glen Banks bowled an astounding 200 game.

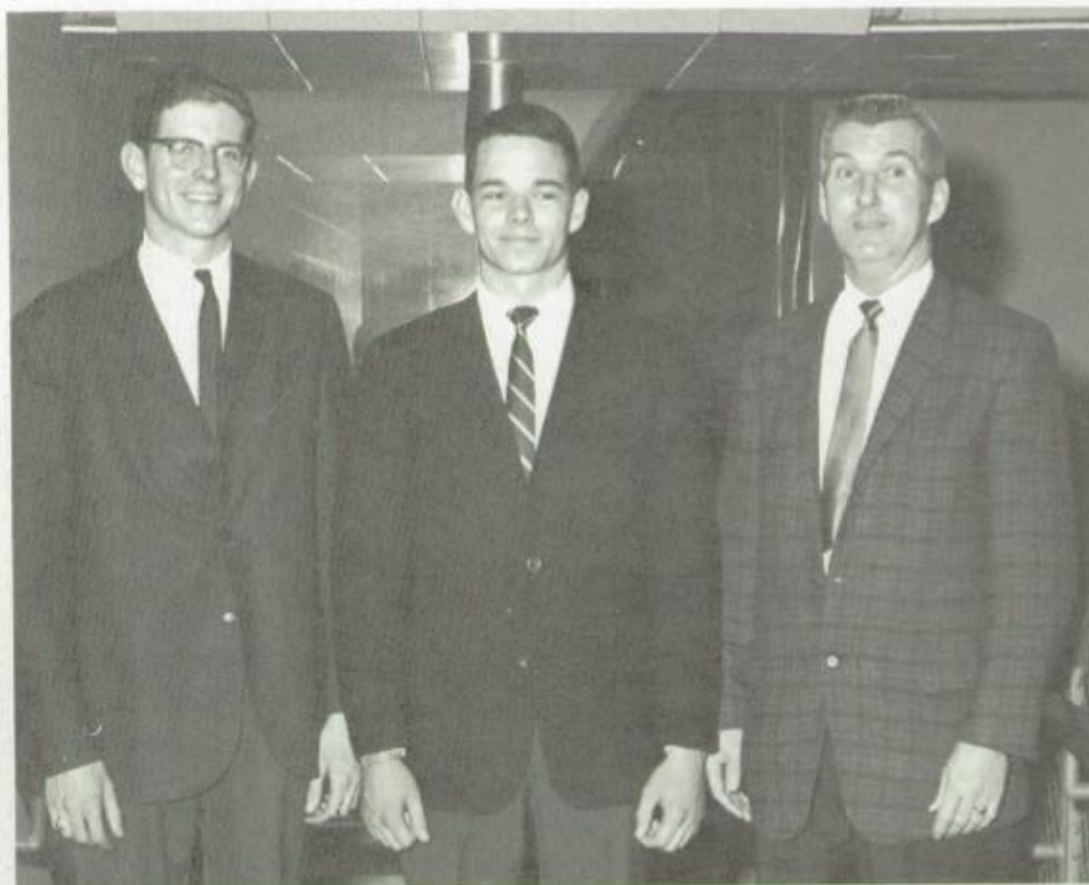

Students interested in horsemanship were members of the Equestrian Club. The club's program incorporated riding lessons and those activities geared to the less athletically inclined, including lectures by experts and the informative visit to Hartford's Smith-Worthington Saddlery. The climax for many was the annual St. Patrick's Day horse show.

Whenever there was ice on Wood Pond, members of the Ice Hockey Club could be found there engaging in exciting matches and acquiring great skill in the sport.

Equestrian Club—Sue Knopf, Joan Brownsword, Carol Nielsen.

Ice Hockey Club—Roger Hart, Pat O'Connell, Mr. McNerny.

The activities of the Home Economics Club included everything from knitting mittens to making paper Easter bunnies. The members of this formerly called "Get Fat Club" (now called the "Stay Slim Club") began the year by learning and practicing the art of knitting. Besides knitting beautiful sweaters for themselves, the girls used their skill during Christmas to make hats and mittens for the needy. On Thanksgiving, Christmas, and other holidays, small parties were held, and on Easter paper Easter baskets made by the club members were given to the Welfare Department. Finally, a barbecue was held as an ending to an active year.

Home Economics Club—Lynn Amenta, Pres.; Cynthia Hazelhurst, Treas.; Ginny Goodsell, Sec.; Cheryl Korman, Sandy Fishberg.

SPLICED FILMS, SPICED CAKES

The role of the audio-visual operator is a difficult and time-consuming one, but this year's club members did an admirable job not only by showing more films than ever before, but also by presenting all of them more efficiently. Members of the Motion Picture Operators Club did not expect or receive thanks for their individual movie showings. When a film was run smoothly, no compliments were deemed necessary, but when an ancient film broke for the fortieth time, the wrath of teachers and the jeers of students had to be endured without comment. This year a well-trained, responsible group kept such mishaps at a minimum.

The Mountaineers Club managed to conquer Mount Monadnock in Jaffrey, New Hampshire. When they weren't climbing, club members camped out for the weekend, cooking their own food and setting up tents.

The History Tours Club visited historic sites right here in Hartford when they toured the Mark Twain Memorial, the State Capitol, and the Wadsworth Atheneum. In the spring, club members journeyed to Boston to follow the Freedom Trail, touring on foot fifteen famous shrines commemorating important events in the history of America.

Members of the Astronomy Club displayed a great interest in celestial bodies. Films were shown at meetings, and the group discussed the phenomena of the heavens.

History Tours Club—Kathy Curran, Lisa Von Pechmann, Carolyn Tuttle, Mr. McInerny.

PENETRATED TIME AND SPACE

Astronomy Club—FIRST ROW—John Yimoyines, Tom Bishop, Jay Alperson, Pres. SECOND ROW—Andy Finkel, Jeff Sheldon, Allan Hartstein.

Forty seniors who were guests at the wedding which started the Trojan War were granted this privilege because of membership in the Societas Romana, the name that the Romans would have given to the Latin Club. When they were juniors, club members held a wedding banquet and found themselves taking sides as three goddesses fought over the golden apple. The guests, clad in togas and sipping vinum innocuum, were entertained by Neopolitan boxers, musicians from Delos, and that folk-singer from Gaul, Mr. Ozimek.

This year club members presented their own version of "Pyramus and Thisbe." At Christmas time they celebrated Saturnalia and even had a Father Saturnalia in place of Santa Claus. Miss Flannigan showed her slides of Greece, and the club traveled to the Yale Art Gallery.

Spanish Club members enjoyed a Christmas party this year. They also played Spanish bingo, presented skits, and viewed the slides of a club member who had visited Ecuador.

This year the main activity of the Spanish National Honor Society was its annual initiation of new members. Nineteen juniors and seniors were inducted in the impressive ceremony conducted completely in Spanish by President Richard Breitman and Secretary Nancy Nirenstein. Pat Comacho, an AFS student from Chile who is living in Bloomfield, spoke about her native land to the members and guests.

The purpose of the German Club, better known as der deutsche Verein, was to make the German language more enjoyable to the members and to provide a better understanding of German Kultur (Culture).

The club members played scrabble and bingo using German words, and prizes of Marzipan were given to the winners. Three native Germans, including Angela Berbig, the AFS student from Hall, talked to the club about life in their country.

Highlighting French Club activities this year was the Christmas banquet. While stuffing themselves with doughnuts and cocoa, the members enjoyed French folksongs and Christmas carols performed by members of the club. At another meeting Miss Noguera, a student teacher who had lived in Canada, spoke to the group about her life there. A French caption writing contest was another program. For their original ideas and good French, the winners were awarded French books.

SOCCER TEAM PLAYS CLOSE, TENSE GAMES

Center—forward Ed Glasband deftly dribbles around his defensive opponent.

The 1964 soccer team compiled a 4—6—1 record. Losing many games by only one goal, the booters lacked a powerful offensive attack. Co-captain Ed Glasband was the high scorer while Co-captain Rex Beckwith, Jack Kovolski, and George King were the defensive stalwarts. The team highlighted their season during the Maloney game, when, losing 3—0, the Chieftains scored five goals in one period and eventually won 5—4. During both Hall games the Red and Grey fought hard but lost 3—0 and 3—2. The soccer team was well represented on the All-Star CCIL team as Glasband, King, and Kovolski were selected.

Coach Richard Massey can optimistically look forward to a strong team in the future. There are eight returning lettermen, and there are many promising Junior Varsity prospects who will help bolster the varsity ranks.

Aggressive George King shoots for the goal.

Employing the proper technique, Don Viens demonstrates the fundamental instep kick.

Although three opponents are pursuing him, Rex Beckwith gains control of the ball.

Gene Newell attempts a long outside shot.

The stalwart Conard Quintet, thanks to the fine coaching of Bob Zuffelato, who was serving his first year as head chieftain, startled the CCIL by firmly seizing first place honors in a hotly contested league race. The defeat of Eastern and Manchester in hard-fought overtime play typified the excellent effort shown by the team, and the great poise and confidence they had.

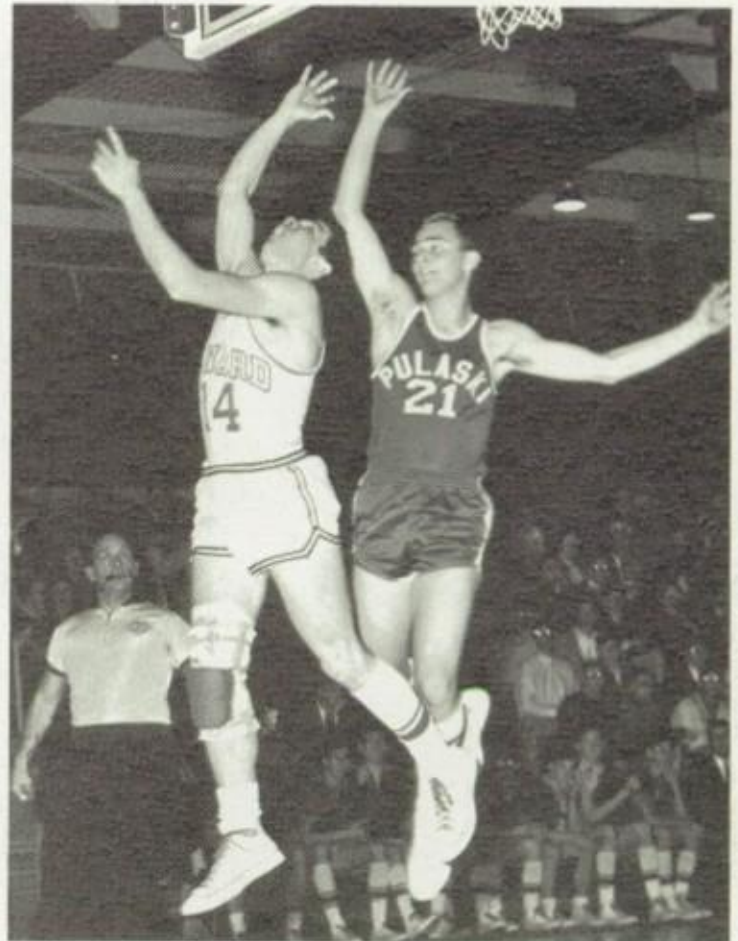

Captain Fran Spadola and Phil Renison provided the largest part of our scoring punch, while Dave Rutter commanded the boards. For the men, Bob Rice and Bob Kennedy were the playmakers, and both stood out on defense as well. Roger Eisenstein, Dan Kaplan, Jeff Renert, Howie Levine, Bill MacLachlan, Mike O'Donnell, and Tim Leach ably rounded out the highly successful team.

Phil Renison, a fine team player, shoots from the foul line.

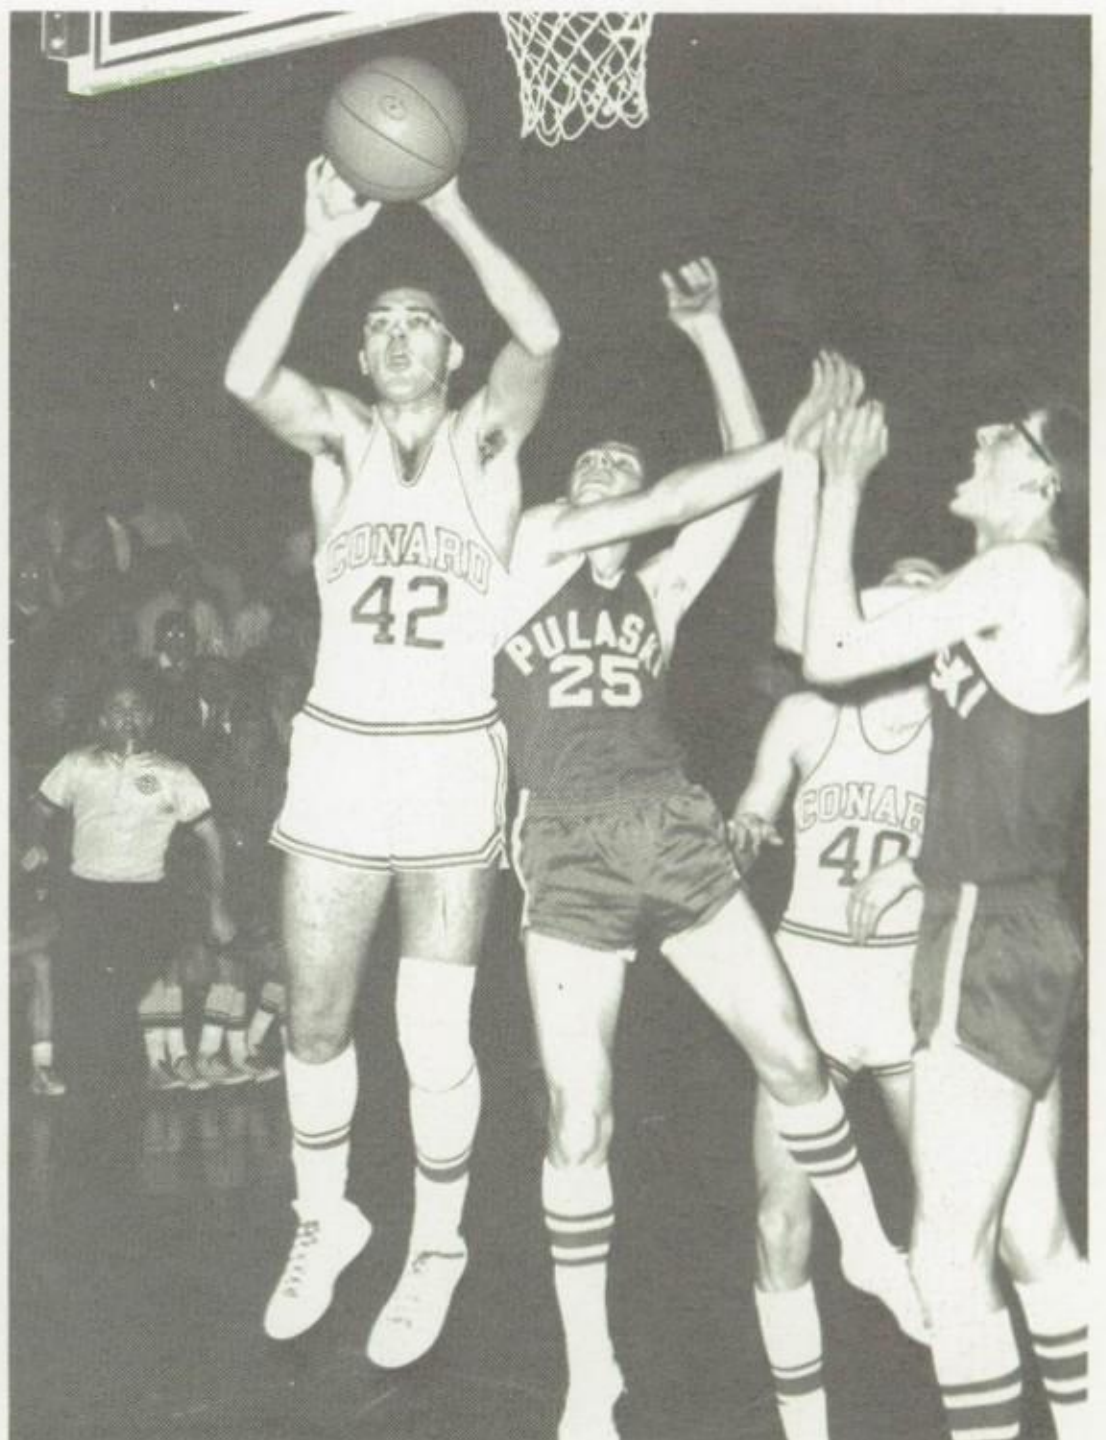

Speedy Bob Kennedy hits a jumper from outside.

With fine effort, lanky Dan Kaplan lays one up.

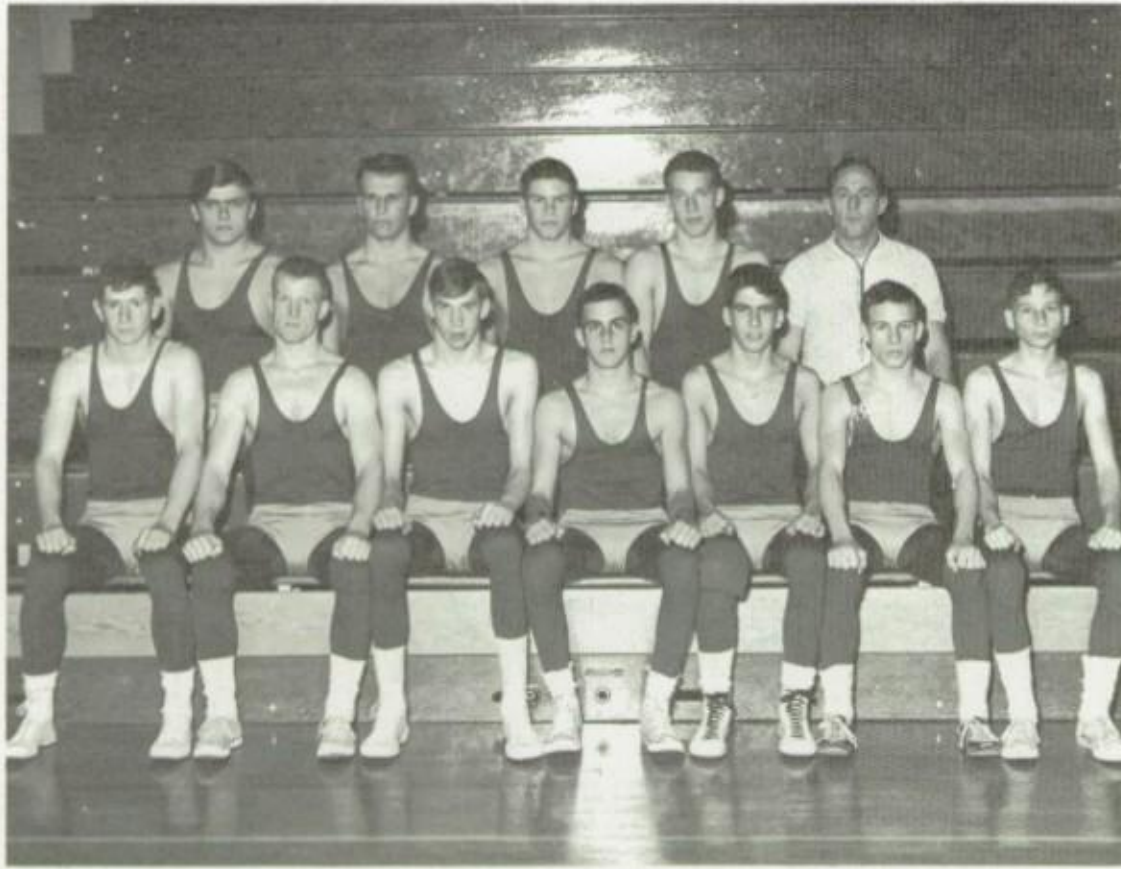

Bob Rice excelled all year on defense, contributing greatly to his team.

Captain Fran Spadola, having faked out an opponent, shoots for the basket.

TEAM HAS PERFECT SEASON

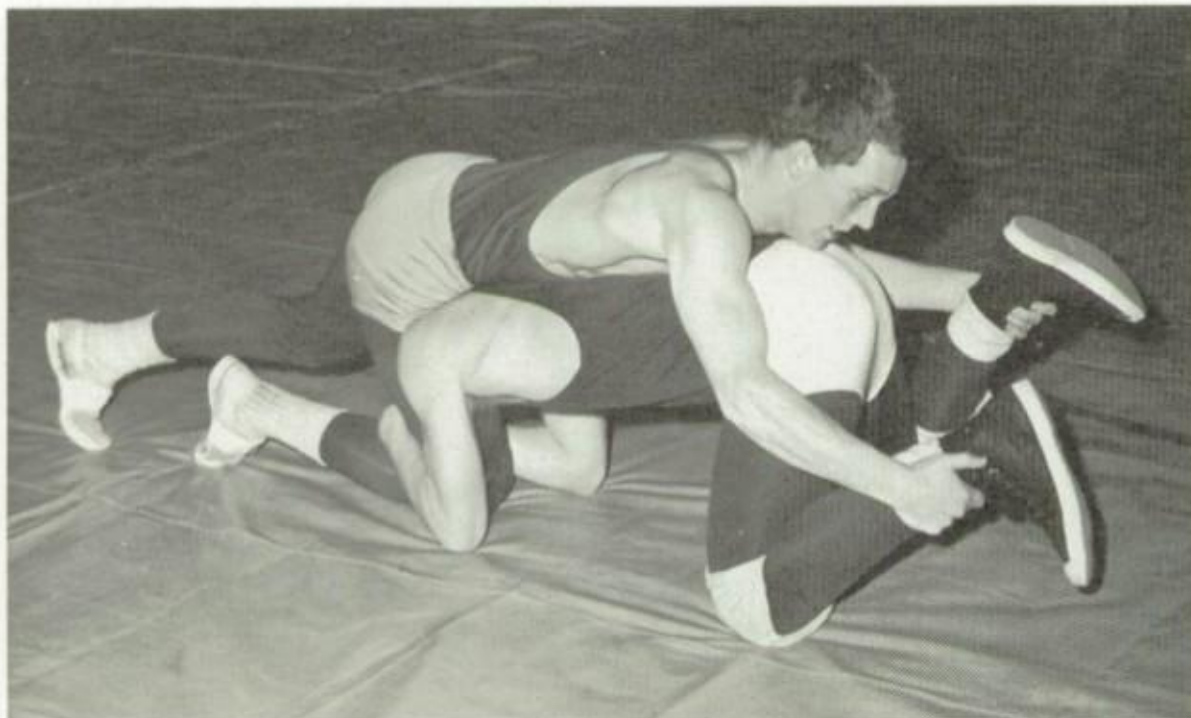

FIRST ROW—Don McMahon, Pete Grosch, Rocky Allen, Mel Spivak, Rich Whitman, Robbie Davidson, Mark Kaplan, SECOND ROW—George Gager, Bill Weise, Jack Foley, Kelly Matzen, Coach Bob McKee.

Beginning this season as a question-mark in the minds of many people, the wrestling team doggedly proved its mettle by surpassing all past achievements, handing in an undefeated scorecard. The final league match of the year, against a previously undefeated Hall squad, was the team's most outstanding victory. The Redmen found themselves losing by fourteen points at one time, but were able, through great determination and effort, to tie, and eventually, on the last individual match, to beat Hall. Under Coach McKee's guidance, co-captains Pete Grosch and Bill Weise, and their teammates Robbie Davidson, Rocky Allen Don McMahon, and Jack Foley all went on to the state finals. This year also marked an increase in school support.

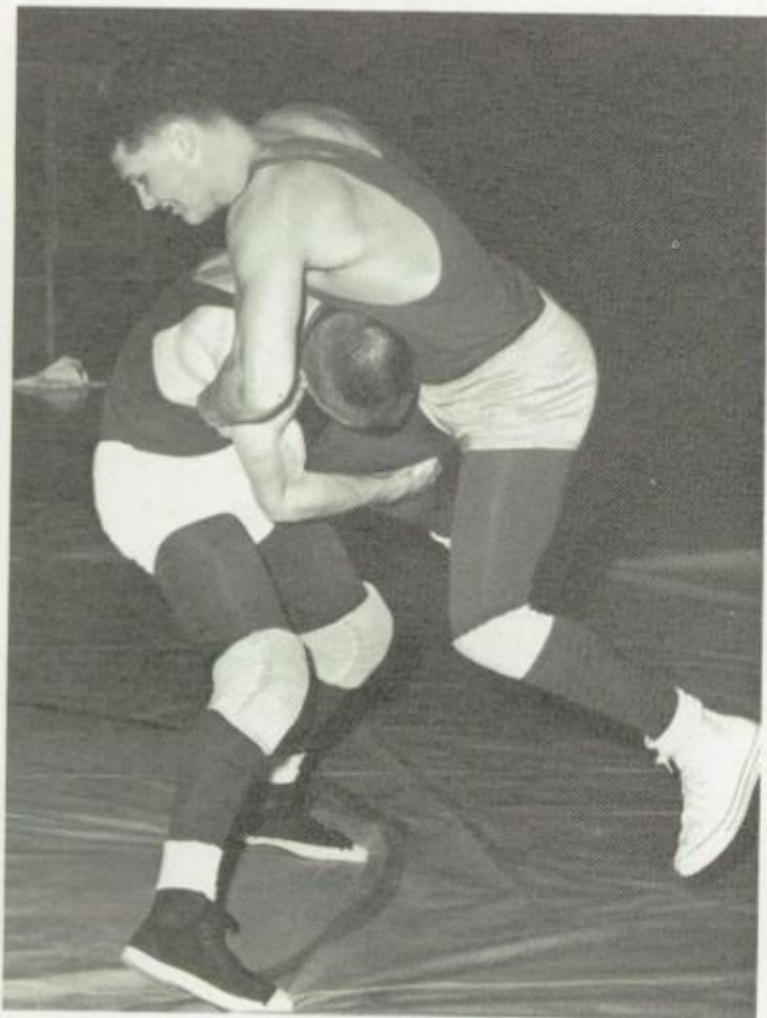

Conditioning was of prime importance to the team.

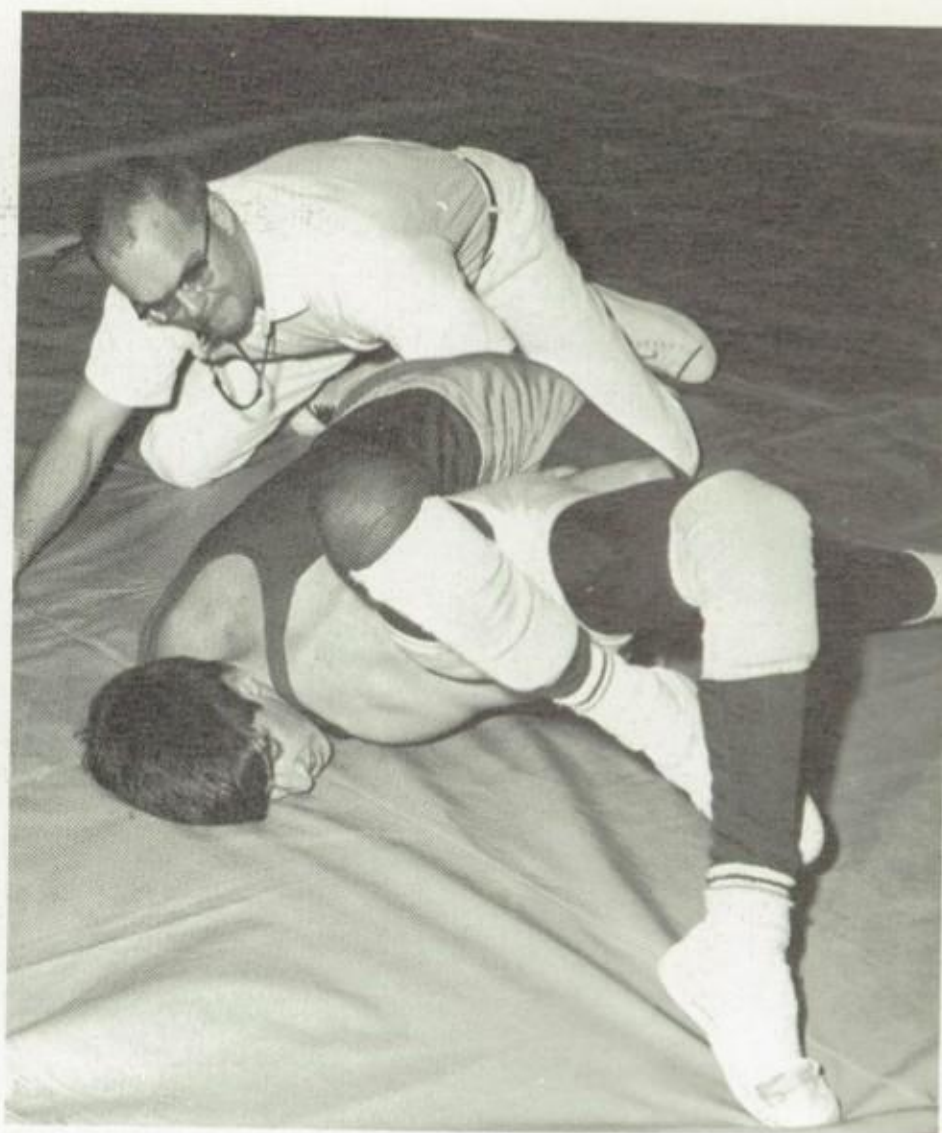

Driving hard, Kelly Matzen ties up his opponent.

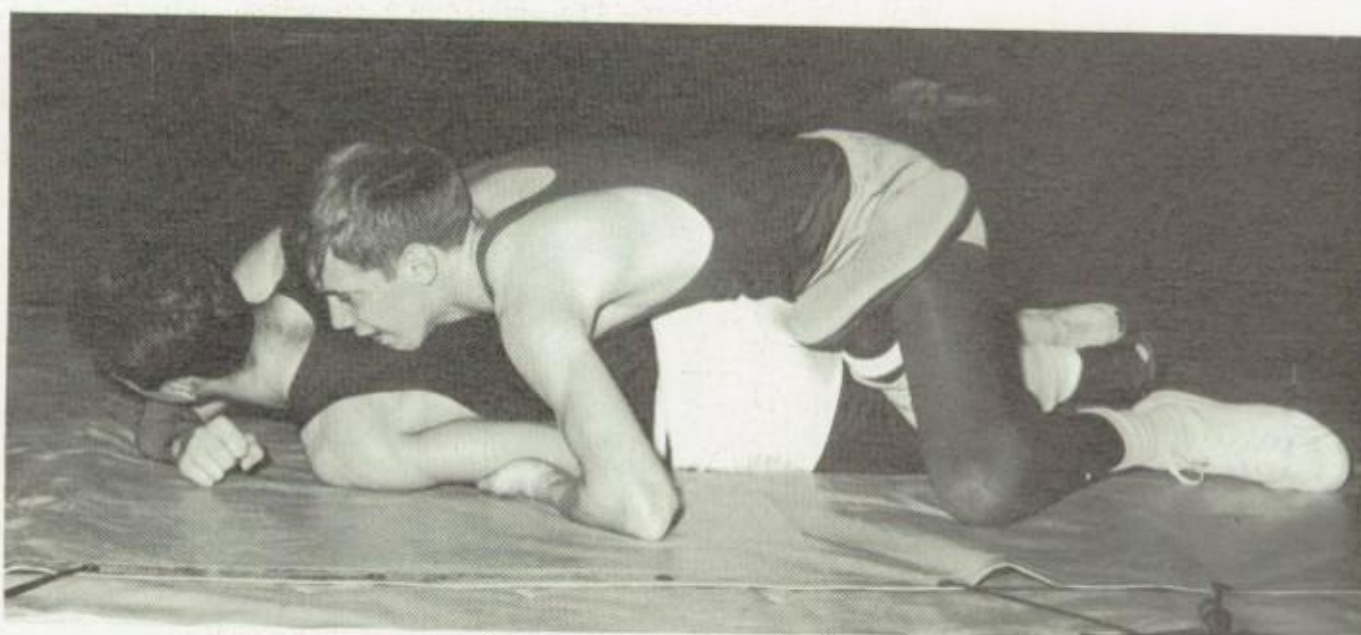

Bill Weise, a stand out all season, tries to bowl over his opponent.

In pinning position is Dick Whitman.

Trying to get adequate leverage, Rocky Allen applies a half-nelson.

Jack Foley squares off.

Under the referee's watchful eyes, Pete Grosch comes up with a pin.

HARRIERS DUMP HALL

Steve Scott shows great determination as he sets his pace.

The cross country team worked diligently all season, turning in long arduous hours of practice, and well-attended meets which showed fine effort and determination. Under Coach lorli's excellent leadership, the team soundly defeated several opponents, including cross town rival Hall. By defeating the Warriors, the Harriers became the only fall team at Conrad to triumph over Hall, and the members of the team were justifiably proud of this accomplishment. The players were pleased with the student support they received, and are looking forward to a better season in the future.

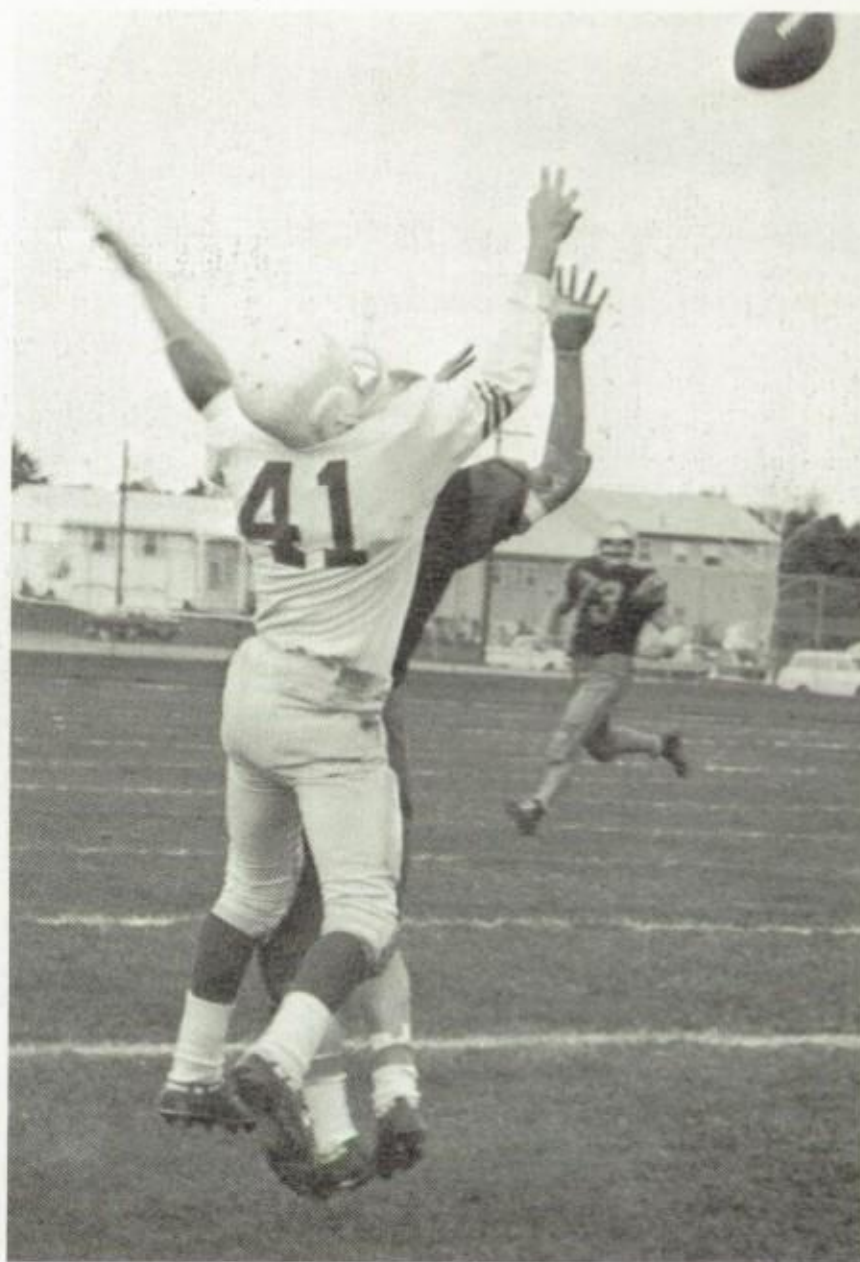

Ron Jones and Rich Carlson jump to the lead.

This year's football team came from ambiguity, and found itself firmly entrenched, at the season's end, in second place, having nearly walked off with the championship crown. The season began unfortunately, with the Big Red dropping two of their first three games. But the team rallied itself, and then went on to win the next five. The greatest game of the year, though, as all must agree, was the thorough defeat of high ranking Maloney. In this contest, which saw the Conard eleven fight to a 13-6 victory, the entire team gave 110% effort throughout the afternoon, and showed fine determination and excellent team co-ordination in guarding the slim 7-6 lead, and in attempting to gather in the second tally.

In looking over the time spent on the practice and playing fields in the past three years, the members of the team, not squad, team, have all developed into stronger, better disciplined, worthwhile individuals, who have learned the agonizing frustration of defeat, as in the 6-6 tie of Hall, as well as the rewards of winning. They have also learned the importance of dedication and of giving your all. "If you can walk off the playing field with no regrets, . . ."

A fine, rugged defensive line, as well as an aggressive offensive alignment from end to end attested to Coach Stewart's prowess, while the very tight secondary unit, and yardage eating backfield spoke well for Coach McKee. And all understand the valuable part played by Coaches Aston and Kruger.

This season was very successful, quite eventful, and extremely beneficial. The team turned in an admirable 6-2-1 record, and considering that it was a team effort and not the work of a few stars, all should be proud.

Leaping high to break up a pass, co-captain Bob Rice shows great effort and determination which keynoted this year's team.

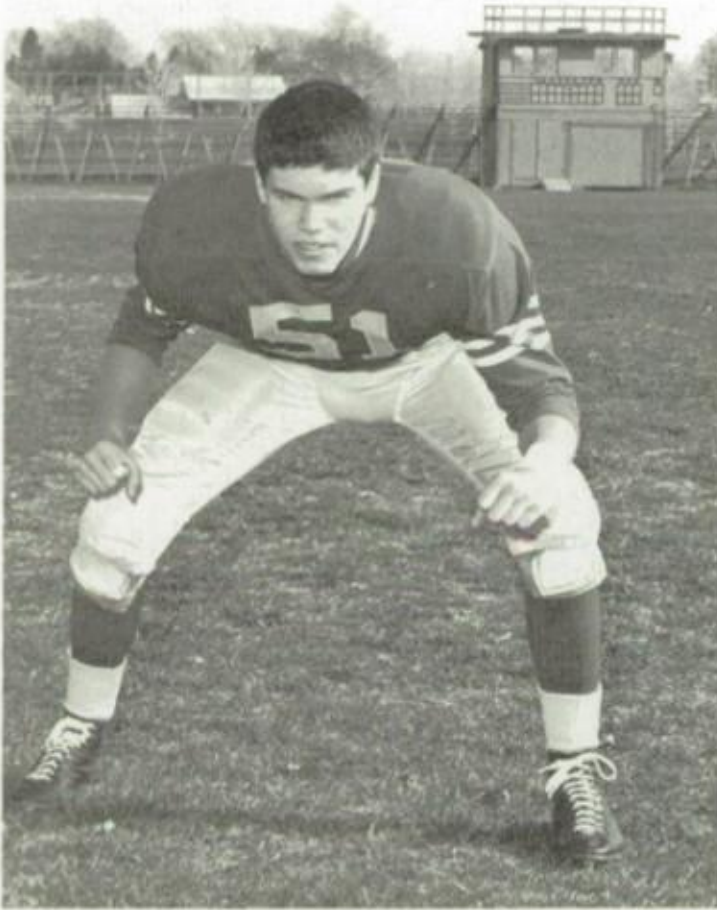

ONE MINUTE FROM CHAMPIONSHIP

THE BIG RED DRIVES

Co-captain Jack Foley was one of team members named to all CCIL team.

Mike O'Donnell, Dan Kaplan, Howie Rhodes, Bill Mann, and Rick Skehan formed Conard's stalwart defensive line, one of the league's best.

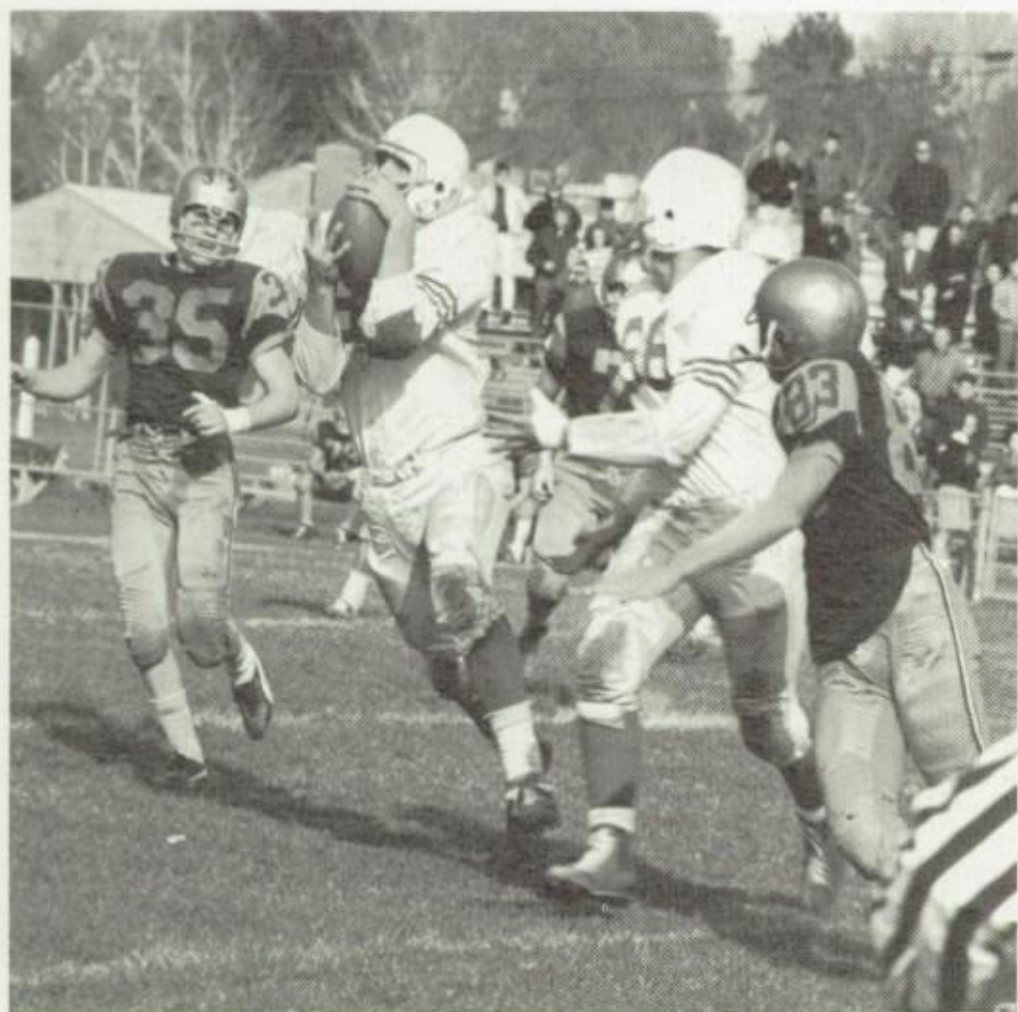

While his team toils on the field, Coach Bob McKee gives important directions to game-bound player.

Jim Luzzi (21), a standout all year, struggles for valuable yardage, as Mike O'Donnell (83) throws a valuable block.

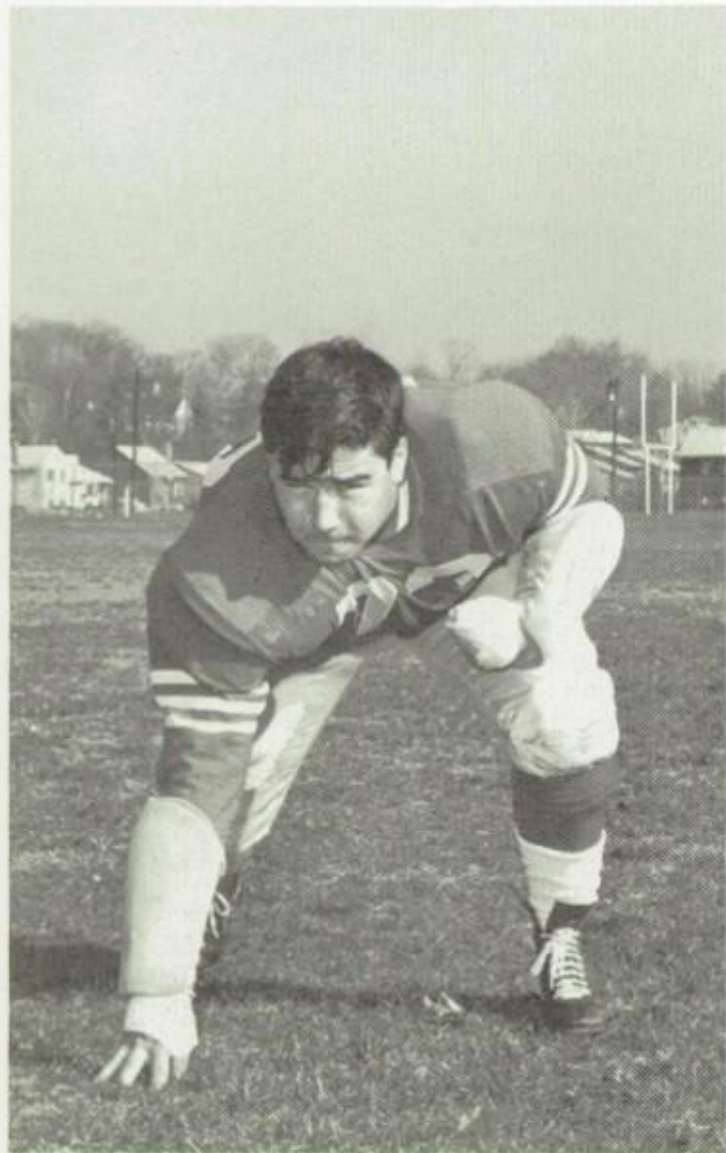

TO SECOND IN CCIL

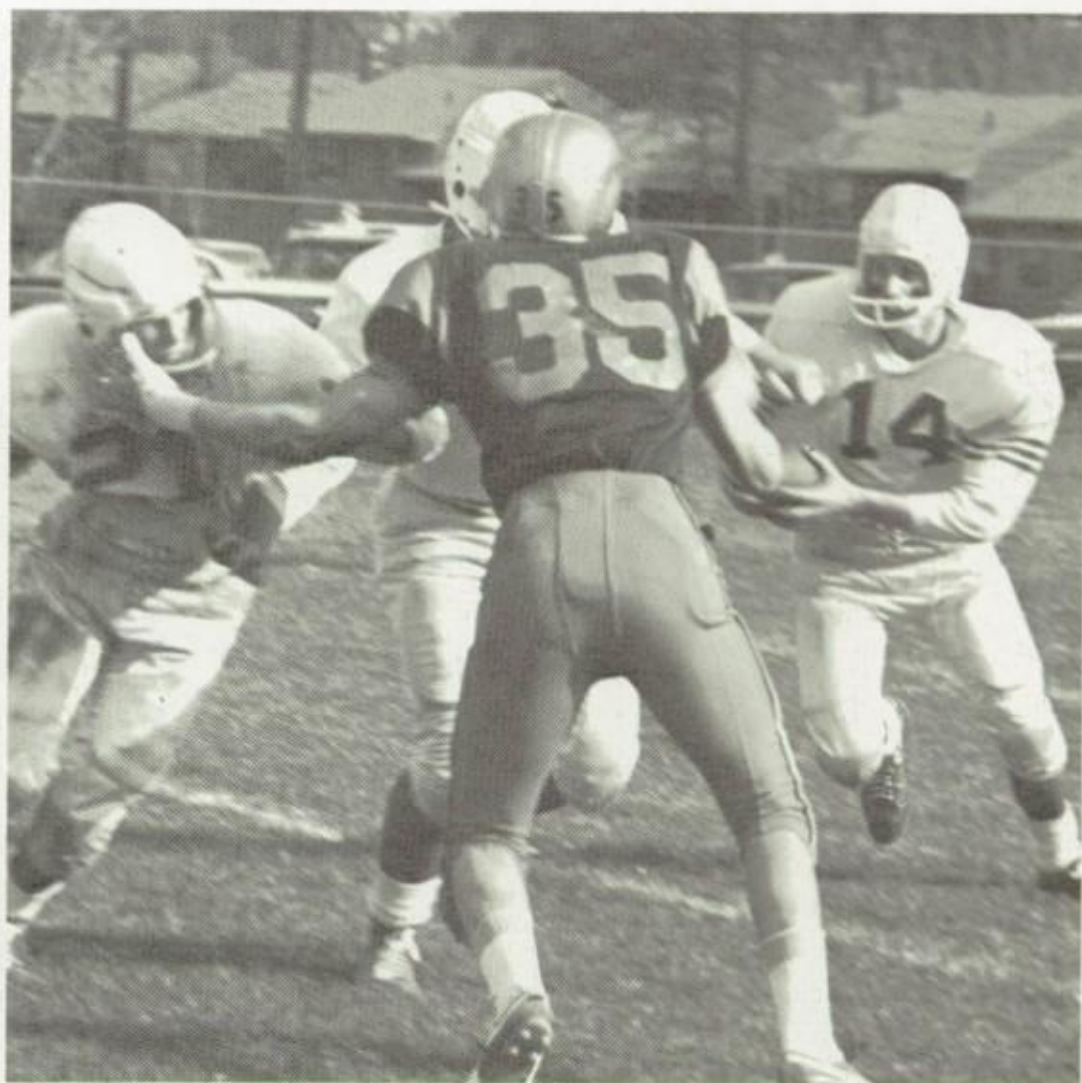

With fine liquid hands, end Rick Skehan picks off an errant Platt pass.

Paul Fatka, Bob Rice and Jim Luzzi make things tough for a Hall receiver.

A two-way standout, lineman Howie Rhodes works to perfect his all-important stance.

Tim Green, Conard's quarterback, follows two blockers around the end for a long gainer.

BASEBALL TEAM CAPTURES CCIL TITLE

Sliding into home, Bob Daniewicz scores.

Behind the fine pitching of Gary Lindholtz and Ken Doyle, the Conard Chieftains made complete shambles of the CCIL title race, winning the crown with extreme ease. The Big Nine then proceeded to battle for best in state honors, and came quite close, being defeated in the last game. Coach McKee was understandably pleased with his team's fine performance, and complete dedication to the sport.

The season was keynoted by fine team coordination, with no one player ever deciding a game, but rather, a complete, all-round effort being responsible for the ultimate outcome. Conard's baseball team showed no weakness at any time. The fielding was of a high quality, the pitching perhaps the best to be found in high school, and the hitting more than adequate. Also, it should be mentioned that several underclassmen dotted the starting lineup. Bob Rice, Bob Daniewicz and Dick Benson were outstanding in the outfield, with Fran Spadola, Bob Benardzck and Tim Green seeing plenty of action in the infield. These boys, all good ballplayers, along with Phil Renison, Jim Hackett, and Tom Crumb, will form the nucleus for next year's team.

TEAM FIGHTS ON TO SECOND PLACE IN THE STATE

Watching the progress of his ball, Tim Green streaks toward first, hoping to beat the fielder's throw.

With a Herculean effort, Fran Spadola booms the ball deep into left field.

With the crack of the bat, Bob Rice sets off towards first.

RUNNERS POST UNDEFEATED SEASON

Illustrating the fine teamwork which keynoted this year's team, Frank Mulluzzo tensely awaits Jeff Sheldon's handoff.

The 1964 track team posted an undefeated record of 6 wins and two ties but ironically finished second to Wethersfield in CCIL standings because the league crown is determined by percentages. With such senior stars as Co-captain Walt Fitzpatrick, Co-captain Richard Uccello, John Farley, and George Demos, the trackmen captured several second place finishes in invitational meets; Hartford Invitational, Eastern Sectionals, and the Greater Hartford meet.

Walt Fitzpatrick lowered the record in the low hurdles, and 220 yard dash, to 9.9 and 21.5 seconds. George Demos also broke the school shotput record.

Mr. Iorli will ascend to the coaching position vacated by Richard Tracy, who is forced to spend more time counseling. Coach Iorli sees next year's team loaded with individual stars but lacking depth. The top point setters will be Jeff Sheldon, vaulter Ken Vannie, miler Rich Carlson, hurdler Tim Dostie, sprinter Frank Muluzzo and miler Larry Campbell.

FIRST ROW—Andy Weiner, Mark Helfand, Bob Nolan, George Demos, Bob Germaine, Rich Uccello, Walt Fitzpatrick, John McCormick, Henry Hillman, John Farley, Dave Jones, Stod Nichols, SECOND ROW—Pete Lebetkin, Rick Hamilton, Tim Dostie, Dick

GOLFERS IMPROVE STEADILY

Improving steadily, the 1964 golf team posted a 10-7 record. The links-men, guided by Pat Riera, highlighted their season by avenging losses to both Hall and Windham. During this match the team established a 311 medal play, a new school record.

Frank Bristow's consistent play earned him a third place in the state tournament. His round of one under par 72 at Rockledge broke the old school record.

The 1965 season shows much promise to the team, as a half-dozen members ended the season shooting in the 70's. Steve Schwartz, Bill MacLachlan and Bob Gunning are the core for next year's squad.

Gazing towards green, Leo Mallek lines up a chip shot.

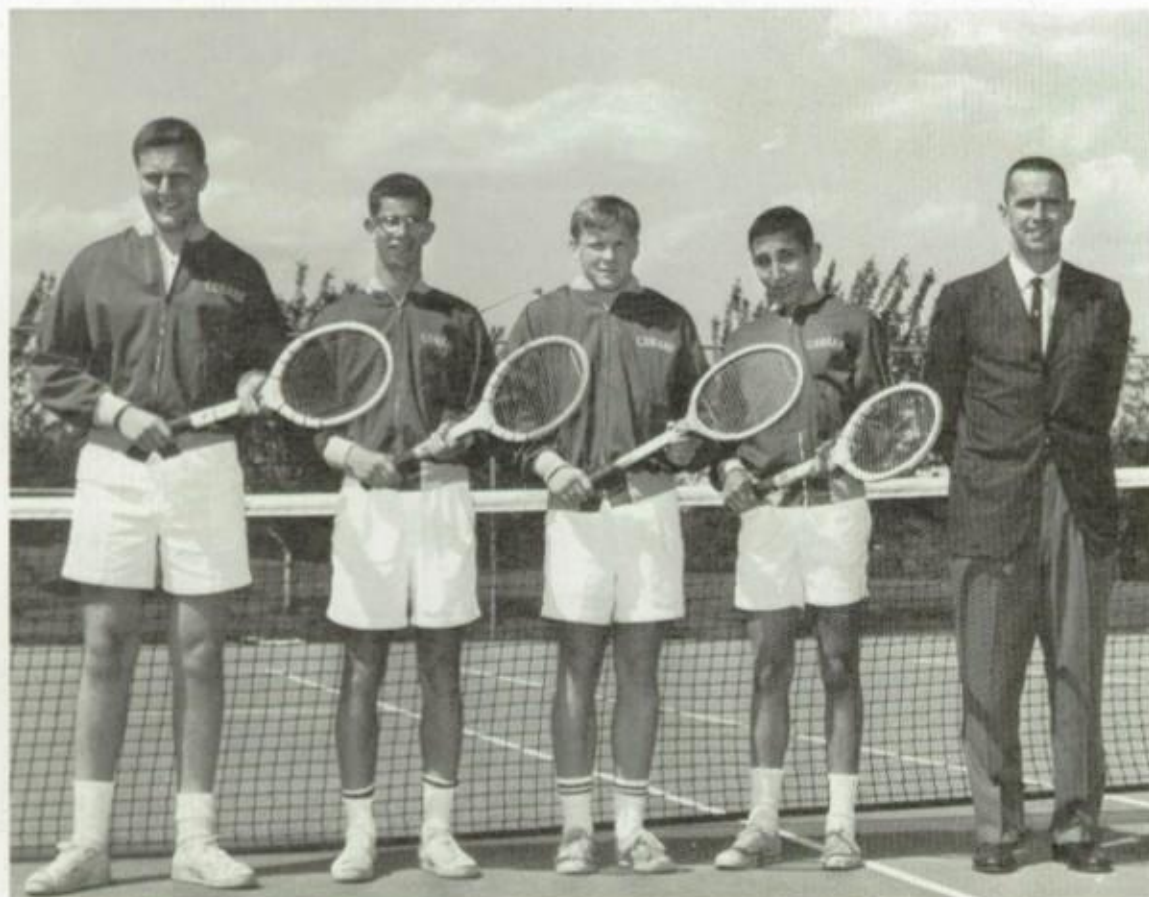

Steve Schwartz shows fine form on drive.

Bill MacLachlan readies his vital approach shot.

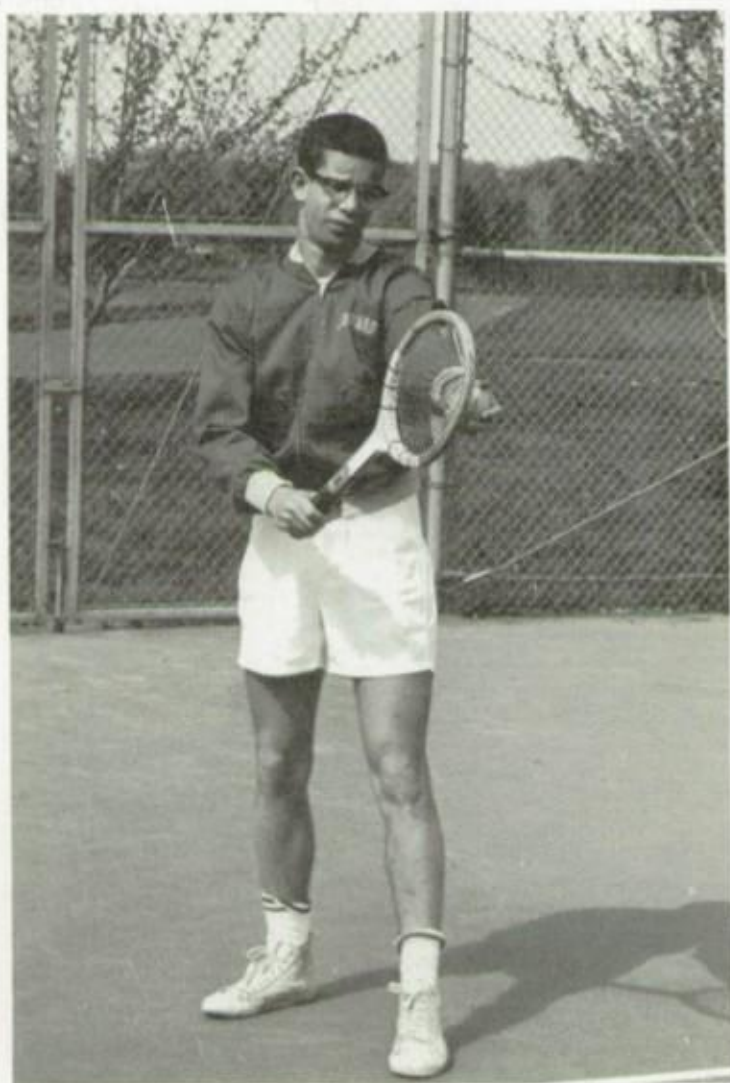

TENNIS TEAM DOMINATES CCIL

The Conard tennis team captured the CCIL Championship and completed the 1964 season with a perfect 10—0 record. Led by juniors Richard Breitman and Cary Dobkin and sophomore Joe Horwitz, Coach Bob Derosier's netmen overwhelmed all their opponents. In the season's final match against Hall, with each club sporting undefeated records, the Chieftains whitewashed the Warriors 5—0 to avenge last year's defeat.

Captains—elect Breitman and Dobkin, and Horwitz, all returning lettermen, will serve as a powerful nucleus for promising juniors Ed Glasband, Rick Kaplan, and Mark Steier. With this strength the perennially powerful Chieftains can look forward to another winning season.

Richard Breitman readies his bullet serve.

Cary Dobkin awaits a return volley.

SWIMMERS CAPTURE STATE CROWN

The powerful Conard Swim Team, displaying depth and consistency, overwhelmed their opponents as they completed a perfect 10-0 season. Coach Wilfred Hunter's Mermen captured the CIAC State Swimming Crown, the CCIL Title, and the Yale Relay Carnival.

Co-captains Paul Liniak and John Goldkamp, two of the finest swimmers in the state set numerous team and state records. Liniak established his marks in the 200 yard individual medley and the 100 yard butterfly. His time of 54.4 in the butterfly will probably earn All-American recognition. In a brilliant race in the state meet, Goldkamp splashed to a first place finish in the 200 yard freestyle with a record breaking time of 1:55.9. In addition Goldkamp set team records in the freestyle and breaststroke events.

Lang Tyler, Ed Glasband, and Glen Rapaport were excellent sprint freestylers. In the state meet Rapaport churned 100 yards in 51.7 seconds to finish second. During the dual meets Tyler and Glasband were consistent point producers in the 50 yard freestyle and both participated in the team record breaking freestyle relay. Backstroker Jim MacDonald and sophomore butterflyer Tony Liniak were also superb performers.

Glen Rapoport shows excellent form in his racing dive.

Paul Liniak and John Goldkamp discuss strategy with coach Will Hunter.

TOP ROW—Chris Book, Dave Ullring, Ed Glasband, Lang Tyler, Glen Rapoport, Larry Ratner, Dane Kostin, Rick Carlson, Frank

LACROSSE TEAM HAS STRONG YEAR

Though still a young and growing sport at Conard, the Lacrosse team has once again turned in an unblemished record to attest to their prowess. With comparative ease the stickmen managed to turn back all the private schools they played, and further played well skilled, sharp looking lacrosse in doing so. Coach Hunter has done an excellent job teaching skills and illustrating game tactics, and considering that Conard is one of the few public schools hosting this sport, all must agree that the boys performed like veterans.

Bob Spears, Tom George, Dave Whittle, Jack Foley, Pat O'Connell, and Rick Skehan will all be returning, and should provide material for manufacturing another winning squad. Several key positions, such as goalie, will be wide open, though, and must be filled ably. The Lacrosse team, proud of their being the first public high school team in the state, were further complimented by being offered an opportunity to hold a lacrosse clinic to publicize the sport and increase its popularity.
